Csaterberg: Deep iron-rich, loamy soils are dominant on the parent rocks comprised either of serpentinite or of silty-clayey- and just occasionally sand – sediments.

Aromatic cherry on the nose has a seductive hint of Amarena cherry. This scented fruit also dominates the slender but concentrated and juicy palate. There is gentle grip and backbone and ample freshness. This shows lovely balance and poise. It is serious without taking itself too seriously.

Ideal for any pork dishes and roasted veal

ideal temperature to drink: 60-65°F
