

Eisenberg Reserve DAC 2015 Blaufränkisch

Dark black fruit aromas of blackberries and cherries, with cool mineral spice and herbs. On the palate very charming fruit, powerful body with a firm structure, fine minerals and spice, well intergrated tannins with an elegant long finish.
Has some aging potentials

Serving Suggestion:
Grilled meats, mushrooms, game and game birds

WINEENTHUSIAST

THE WORLD IN YOUR GLASS

Jalits 2014 Szapary Reserve Blaufränkisch (Eisenberg)

94 Points Austria $34

This is still very tightly coiled: the nose says little and the palate holds on tight to its beautifully pure blueberry fruit. There is lip-smacking freshness and a very finely woven tannin structure but this impressive wine does need time to come into itself and relax its fruit. There is something profound and stony about this, something mysterious, brooding and wild. Cellar this and then rejoice. Drink 2020–2035.

Jalits 2013 Szapary Reserve Blaufränkisch (Eisenberg)

93 Points Austria Cellar Selection

A hint of black, intense elderberry steals away almost as soon as it appears. Intriguing blueberry and plum remain on a slender, supple and lissom palate that is dense and toned. There is focus, concentration and purity, framed by stony notes, smoky oak and great freshness. This will take time to relax, so drink 2018–2025.

Jalits 2012 Reserve Blaufränkisch (Eisenberg)

An intriguing nose of slight but very pleasant smokiness with mere edges ...
